Be prepared for dangerous spring storms with Severe Weather call-in program

FOR RELEASE: March 4, 2020

Spring can be a dangerous season in Kentucky, with higher potential for tornadoes, severe storms, lightning, and flooding.

To help viewers prepare, KET presents Severe Weather: Staying Safe, a live call-in program featuring a panel of weather experts, to answer viewers' questions and offer advice on how to get ready for the storm season.

Severe Weather: Staying Safe airs on Tuesday, March 10, on KET at 8/7 pm.

During the one-hour program, viewers can submit questions by calling the phone number on screen.

Severe Weather: Staying Safe is a production of KET in partnership with the Kentucky Division of Emergency Management and the Kentucky Weather Preparedness Committee. Linda Randulfe is the producer.

KET is Kentucky's largest classroom, where learning comes to life for more than one million people each week via television, online and mobile. Learn more about Kentucky's preeminent public media organization at KET.org, on Twitter @KET and at facebook.com/KET.
