‘Kentucky Health’ discusses challenges facing long-term care in wake of COVID-19

FOR RELEASE: March 10, 2021

Dr. Wayne Tuckson welcomes Elizabeth A. Johnson, president and executive director of the Kentucky Association of Health Care Facilities and Kentucky Center for Assisted Living, to talk about long-term care facilities and resources in Kentucky. She also addresses the challenges facing the industry as it begins to recover from the devastating impact of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The episode Kentucky Health: The Future of Long-term Care in Kentucky airs Sunday, March 14, at 12:30 pm/11:30 am on KET and Monday, March 15, at 2/1 pm on KET2.

Kentucky Health is a weekly KET program that seeks to improve the people’s health through education and increased awareness. Kentucky Health is hosted by Dr. Wayne Tuckson, a colorectal surgeon in Louisville, and produced by Laura Krueger.

KET is Kentucky’s largest classroom, where learning comes to life for more than one million people each week via television, online and mobile. Learn more about Kentucky’s preeminent public media organization at KET.org, on Twitter @KET and at facebook.com/KET.
