‘Kentucky Health’ pays tribute to health care workers on the pandemic’s front lines

FOR RELEASE: March 25, 2021

In this special episode of Kentucky Health, Dr. Wayne Tuckson honors the many health care workers on the front lines of this pandemic, particularly those who lost their lives to COVID-19. He speaks with Dr. William Moss, medical director of the Emergency Department for Med Center Health in Bowling Green; Delanor Manson, chief executive officer of the Kentucky Nurses Association; and Elizabeth Johnson, president and executive director of the Kentucky Association of Health Care Facilities and Kentucky Center for the Assisted Living.

The episode Kentucky Health: A Tribute to Health Care Providers airs Sunday, March 28, at 12:30 pm/11:30 am on KET and Monday, March 29, at 2/1 pm on KET2.

Kentucky Health is a weekly KET program that seeks to improve the people’s health through education and increased awareness. Kentucky Health is hosted by Dr. Wayne Tuckson, a colorectal surgeon in Louisville, and produced by Laura Krueger.

KET is Kentucky’s largest classroom, where learning comes to life for more than one million people each week via television, online and mobile. Learn more about Kentucky’s preeminent public media organization at KET.org, on Twitter @KET and at facebook.com/KET.
