‘Kentucky Health’ discusses the importance of lung health

FOR RELEASE: Dec. 8, 2021

When it comes to lung health, Kentucky has one of the highest burdens of disease in the nation. On this episode of Kentucky Health, host Dr. Wayne Tuckson welcomes Dr. Neal Moser, a pulmonologist and current president of the Kentucky Medical Association, to discuss the most common threats to our lungs and the best ways to protect this vital organ from harm.

Kentucky Health: Lung Health: Breathing Does a Body Good episode airs Sunday, Dec. 12, at 12:30 pm/11:30 am on KET and Monday, Dec. 13, at 2/1 pm on KET2.

Kentucky Health is a weekly KET program that seeks to improve the people’s health through education and increased awareness. Kentucky Health is hosted by Dr. Wayne Tuckson, a colorectal surgeon in Louisville, and produced by Laura Krueger.

KET is Kentucky’s largest classroom, where learning comes to life for more than one million people each week via television, online and mobile. Learn more about Kentucky’s preeminent public media organization at KET.org, on Twitter @KET and at facebook.com/KET.
