‘Kentucky Health’ discusses the shortage of nurses and the pathway to becoming a nurse

FOR RELEASE: Jan. 20, 2021

On the next episode of Kentucky Health, Dr. Wayne Tuckson interviews Sonya Hardin, dean of the UofL School of Nursing, about the nursing profession—from the current shortage of nurses to the pathway to becoming a nurse and the opportunities in the field.

Kentucky Health airs Sunday, Jan. 23, at 12:30 pm/11:30 am on KET and Monday, Jan. 24, at 2/1 pm on KET2.

Kentucky Health is a weekly KET program that seeks to improve the people’s health through education and increased awareness. Kentucky Health is hosted by Dr. Wayne Tuckson, a colorectal surgeon in Louisville, and produced by Laura Krueger.

KET is Kentucky’s largest classroom, where learning comes to life for more than one million people each week via television, online and mobile. Learn more about Kentucky’s preeminent public media organization at KET.org, on Twitter @KET and at facebook.com/KET.
