‘Kentucky Health’ discusses medical options for treating urinary incontinence

FOR RELEASE: Feb. 23, 2022

Urinary incontinence can sometimes result from surgery, injury or childbirth. On the next episode of Kentucky Health, host Dr. Wayne Tuckson talks with Dr. Uzoma A. Anele, director of genitourinary reconstructive surgery at the University of Louisville, about surgical and non-surgical options for treating urinary incontinence.

Kentucky Health: Urinary Tract Reconstruction and Incontinence airs Sunday, Feb. 27, at 12:30 pm/11:30 am on KET and Monday, Feb. 28, at 2/1 pm on KET2.

Kentucky Health is a weekly KET program that seeks to improve the people’s health through education and increased awareness. Kentucky Health is hosted by Dr. Wayne Tuckson, a colorectal surgeon in Louisville, and produced by Laura Krueger.

KET is Kentucky’s largest classroom, where learning comes to life for more than one million people each week via television, online and mobile. Learn more about Kentucky’s preeminent public media organization at KET.org, on Twitter @KET and at facebook.com/KET.
