

‘Inside Louisville’ explores efforts to provide meals for people who are unhoused or food insecure

FOR RELEASE: June 17, 2026

Louisville's vibrant foodie scene has intersected with a community problem: food insecurity. Feed Louisville was created to take surplus food and, with the help of professional chefs, turn it into healthy meals for people who are unhoused or food insecure. Host Kelsey Starks goes inside the nonprofit's kitchen, where chefs also prepare Zest grab-and-go meals to help support the mission. A 2026 KET production.
